

Human Resources

All India Radio employs dedicated personnel for technical, programme and administrative functions. AIR staff have displayed tremendous professional pride and spirit in times of stress, especially through disasters caused by floods and cyclones when radio has been the only communication link with the community. No holidays, plenty of snags, but, the show must go on

.....

Technical personnel are responsible for all engineering functions including planning of facilities, project execution, operation and maintenance of the broadcast network.

The news personnel put out bulletins and current affair programmes every hour in all Indian languages and dialects.

The programme personnel are responsible for the production of the wide variety of AIR programmes.

The administrative staff provides necessary support services to technical and programme personnel.

Even though AIR is not the best paymaster for artists and guest speakers still it is endeared to artists at all levels. They value the respect and treatment accorded to them.